

Things We Don't Understand and Definitely Are Not Going to Talk About

by

Miranda July

a benefit performance for
San Francisco Cinematheque

Miranda July: This is very much a work-in-progress show; I'm just trying some things out, here, with you tonight. One of the big missing parts is music. It is always unfortunate to have to perform without the welcoming hand of music, but oh well. Also, in the finished show I will be prettier and funnier and generally more talented. I can't wait. (As time goes on though, one begins to feel that there will never be a "finished show", not in the larger sense. There will just be endless imperfect attempts and then death. But that's ok! That is what makes life life.) In any case, I can't imagine being any more excited than I am about being here tonight, supporting an organization that has supported me and so many other weirdos for such a long time. Thank you for coming. (Miranda July)

For their support of this event, San Francisco Cinematheque extends gratitude to: Citizen Cake, Whole Foods, Peets, TAP Plastics, Green Cine, Project Artaud, Suzie Gerhard, Jason Harry Pagan, Lupine Events- Jon Tracy and Greywolf, Mishi, and the Board, Interns, Volunteers and Members of San Francisco Cinematheque.

*Things We Don't Understand
and Definitely Are Not Going to Talk About*

by

Miranda July

a benefit performance for
San Francisco Cinematheque

Miranda July: This is very much a work-in-progress show; I'm just trying some things out, here, with you tonight. One of the big missing parts is music. It is always unfortunate to have to perform without the welcoming hand of music, but oh well. Also, in the finished show I will be prettier and funnier and generally more talented. I can't wait. (As time goes on though, one begins to feel that there will never be a "finished show", not in the larger sense. There will just be endless imperfect attempts and then death. But that's ok! That is what makes life life.) In any case, I can't imagine being any more excited than I am about being here tonight, supporting an organization that has supported me and so many other weirdos for such a long time. Thank you for coming. (Miranda July)

For their support of this event, San Francisco Cinematheque extends gratitude to: Citizen Cake, Whole Foods, Peets Coffee and Tea, TAP Plastics, Green Cine, Project Artaud, Suzie Gerhard, Jason Harry Pagan, Lupine Events- Jon Tracy and Greywolf, Mishi, and the Board, Interns, Volunteers and Members of San Francisco Cinematheque.